

University of Chicago Medicine IBD Preceptorship Program 2021-2022

Join the faculty of the University of Chicago Medicine
IBD Center for a multistage IBD preceptorship

1 Self Study

One month program of self-study featuring the latest scientific findings on Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis.

2 Virtual

Attend online roundtable case discussions, multidisciplinary meetings, research groups, one-on-one meetings with faculty, and clinical conferences over Zoom.

3 On Site

Come to the University of Chicago Medicine IBD center as a clinical observer (all travel expenses paid).

About Us

In an environment of compassion and cooperation, we are committed to providing the highest caliber care to patients who suffer from inflammatory bowel disease, to delivering unique and highly relevant educational programs for patients and professionals, and to performing medical research that advances the science and understanding of these conditions.

How to Apply

- Visit: <https://cme.uchicago.edu/2021-IBD-Preceptorship>
- Complete the online application
- Email ibdcenter@uchicago.edu for more information