CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

This course will outline where standard practices in endoscopy are currently and how new innovations may enhance or revolutionize endoscopy practice in the future.

A series of lectures, debates, and live case demonstrations over two full days will be conducted by expert faculty from multiple disciplines and from all over the world.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be better able to:

- Implement standard guidelines for screening and surveillance for Barrett's esophagus and colon cancer in practice
- Appreciate importance of detailed white light examination and understand roles of digital imaging, chromoendoscopy, endomicroscopy, accessory cameras, and other advanced imaging in detection of luminal lesions
- Define principles of safe and effective polypectomy and endoscopic resections
- Recognize diagnostic options in tissue acquisition in pancreaticobiliary tumors
- Understand management of pancreatitis and biliary pathology and roles of endoscopic procedures in these diseases
- Understand endoscopic options for dealing with bariatric patients and achalasia patients

Please join us for what promises to be an informative and comprehensive conference!
