

A Free, Internet-Based Activity

The Hospitalized Patient With COPD: How to Prevent VTE? CME

Supported by an independent educational grant from Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

Developed through a collaboration between the University of Chicago
Medicine and Medscape Education.

AT THE FOREFRONT
UChicago Medicine

Medscape
EDUCATION

www.medscape.org/case/vte-copd

The Hospitalized Patient With COPD: How to Prevent VTE? CME

FACULTY

Victor F. Tapson, MD

Professor of Medicine
Director
Clinical Research for the Women's Guild Lung Institute
Director
Venous Thromboembolism and Pulmonary Vascular Disease
Research Program
Associate Director, Pulmonary and Critical Care Division
Cedars-Sinai Medical Center
Los Angeles, California

TARGET AUDIENCE

This activity is intended for cardiologists, primary care physicians, and hematology/oncology specialists.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this activity, participants will:

Have greater competence related to the

- Use of effective strategies to improve venous thromboembolism (VTE) prevention in hospitalized patients with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD)

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT For Physicians

The University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine designates this enduring activity for a maximum of 0.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

To access this free CME activity, please visit

www.medscape.org/case/vte-copd