

FAME Session* October 26 from 9:30 am-1:15 pm to be held at NorthShore University HealthSystem at Evanston Hospital

Faculty Advancing in Medical Education (FAME) is a faculty development program sponsored by the Academy of Distinguished Medical Educators and the MERITS Program (Medical Education Research, Innovation, Teaching, and Scholarship) at the Pritzker School of Medicine at the University of Chicago. FAME supports faculty educators by providing resources and training in key conceptual and practical skills in teaching and assessment. Launched in 2011-12, FAME offers 2-3 faculty development sessions each academic year.

Goals:

- Enhance faculty members' knowledge of theory-based education and its practical application.
- Enhance faculty skills in teaching and assessment.
- Improve medical student and resident education.

Objectives:

By the end of the workshops, the faculty will be able to:

- Establish a framework for practically applying workshop topics to their teaching venues.
- Improve specific faculty teaching and/or evaluation skills.

For the October 26 FAME session, participants may choose to attend 2 of the 3 workshops listed below.

The Continuum of Feedback/Evaluation

H. Barrett Fromme, MD, MHPE, Associate Professor of Pediatrics and Nikki Orlov, MD, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics

Medical Education: Where Expectations Are Optimistic for (Learning) Climate Change

Steven Bacht, MD, Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics and Joyce Tang, MD, Assistant Professor of Medicine

Improving Your Lecture Skills

Jason Poston, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine and James Ahn, MD, Assistant Professor of Medicine

Sign Up Form for October 26 FAME Session*

Name _____

E-mail _____

Department _____

Division _____

The type of learners I work with are (choose all that apply):

Medical students

Residents

Fellows

Other _____

The workshops I want to attend are (choose two):

_____ The Continuum of Feedback/Evaluation

H. Barrett Fromme, MD, MHPE, Associate Professor of Pediatrics
Nikki Orlov, MD, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics

_____ Medical Education: Where Expectations Are Optimistic for (Learning) Climate Change

Steven Bachtta, MD, Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics
Joyce Tang, MD, Assistant Professor of Medicine

_____ Improving Your Lecture Skills

Jason Poston, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine
James Ahn, MD, Assistant Professor of Medicine

Please fax (847-733-5740) or e-mail (bjacobson@northshore.org) to Berna Jacobson in the Office of Academic Affairs.