

Multidisciplinary IBD Clinical Series

Dear Colleague,

You are cordially invited to attend our next quarterly Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD) clinical series.

This event is open to all providers that have an interest in IBD, and is not exclusive to NorthShore staff. The presentation format is an informal forum that provides interaction and discussion regarding difficult IBD cases. If you have an unusual or difficult case you would like to present please contact me by email (eyen@northshore.org) or by telephone at (847)570-3890.

Our meeting is planned for Wednesday December 6, 2017 from 5:30pm-8:30pm.

McCormick&Schmick's, 4999 Old Orchard Center,
Skokie, Illinois, 60077

Our guest discussant will be:

Matthew A. Ciorba, MD, Assistant Professor of Medicine, Division of Gastroenterology, Washington University School of Medicine, St Louis

Target Audience: This educational activity is designed to provide a platform to discuss current GI advances and management of difficult GI problems of gastroenterologists and surgeons and other healthcare providers interested in gastroenterological diseases.

Learning objectives: Upon completion of this activity participants will be able to:

1. To discuss and review research on the microbiome in patients with IBD
2. Review and discuss challenging cases of Crohn's disease with a multidisciplinary approach from surgery, pathology, radiology and medicine.
3. Identify and discuss new advances in IBD treatment
